TOWARD NEW ORLEANS

President and Party Departed From Memphis.

GREAT RECEPTION ACCORDED.

People of Memphis Gave Grand Welcome—President Made Notable Speech—Confederate Veterans Enthusiastic at Different Places.

Memphis May 1.—About 1:30 this morning the presidential train resumed its journey for New Orleans, which, it was expected, will be reached about 4:30 o'clock this afternoon. After descending the mountains Monday night, the train Tuesday skinned along through Northern Alabama and the valley of the Tennessee river and touched Corinth, Miss., where General Grant worsted Forrest in his campaign to cut the Confederacy in two. There was a fresh green in the southland, with its fruit in full blossom, and its infinite volume of wild flowers in the fields and forest. Hearty greetings were extended to the president along the route. Confederate veterans at all the stopping places were among the president's most enthusiastic auditors, and that he was impressed with their remarks of love and esteem was evident from brief speeches made at Huntsville, Decatur, Tusculum and Corinth.

Cabinet Meeting on Train.

During the morning, at the regular hour for the cabinet to assemble, the president summoned his advisers into the observation car and there, beand closed doors, a cabinet meeting on wheels was held. No important advice had been received from Washington that required action, but the foreign dispatches in the papers were talked over and some of the details as yet undetermined were discussed. At Memphis the party received a wonderfully impressive welcome. A committee, headed by Senator Carmack, met the train at Corinth and escorted the party to this city. A national salute of 21 guns signalled the approach to the city. At the station Governor McMillin and others met the party. A military parade, with a company of grizzled Confederate veterans in their old uniforms, acting as the guard of honor, escorted the party in carriages through the principal streets, and around the custom house, whence a view of the Mississippi, now almost overflowing on the Arkansas side, was obtained, to Court square. In the city were decorations of flags and bunting. Banners were stretched across the streets bearing such inscriptions as "Mrs. President, the City is Yours," "The Nation's President," etc.

The cheering through which the procession passed was tremendous at points along the route. In Court square, where the open air reception occurred, the platform was much hedged around with roses and other blossoms. Probably over 10,000 people were packed into the square when the president was introduced by Mayor Williams. In response to the cheers which greeted him, the president made the first really notable speech of his trip. When he referred to the noble record of Tennessee volunteers in the Spanish and Philippine wars, Governor McMillin led the cheering. The President said:

What the President Said.

I reciprocate the sentiments of good will and fraternity expressed by your honored mayor and shown in this cordial reception on the present people of Tennessee. I do not misinterpret this demonstration. I do not appreciate it, but accept it in its true spirit and recognize its true significance to our common country. It is representative of that universal good feeling happily subsisting among the people of the United States, and which is not bounded by state, political or geographical lines. It is co-extensive with the Union itself and exists because of our love for the Union. It is not perfunctory or superficial, but deep and heartfelt. It is the hearty, honest sentiment of honest people, loving their country and proud of its institutions, and determined that both shall be maintained. It is powerfully influencing our national life and development and completing that unification so essential to national security and so indispensable to the realization of our national strategic and influence. What a mighty, realizable power for good is a united nation of free men. It makes for peace and prestige, for progress and liberty. It serves the rights of the people and strengthens the pillars of the government and is a fulfillment of that more perfect union for which our revolutionary fathers strove and for which the constitution was made. No citizen of the republic rejects more than I do at this happy state, and none will do more within his sphere to continue and strengthen it. Our past has gone into history. No brighter one adorns the annals of mankind. Our task is for the future. We leave the old century behind us, holding on to its achievements and cherishing its memories, and turn with hope to the new, with its opportunities and obligations.

Our Future Under God.

These we must meet, men of the south, men of the north, with high purpose and resolution. Without internal troubles to distract us, or jealousies to disturb our judgment, we will solve the problems which confront us untrammelled by the past and wisely and courageously pursue a policy of right and justice in all things, making the future under God even more glorious than the past. I am glad to meet with the people of Memphis and of the state of Tennessee. Their history is associated with the greatest struggles and sacrifices of our country and their valor has been conspicuous in every battle of the republic. The commonwealth has lost none of the zeal and patriotism which gave to it in the earlier days the name of the volunteer state. It shows it is still worthy of that proud designation, for even now its enlistments in the new army, according to population, exceed those of any other state in the Union. (Applause) Her record in the Spanish war was a distinguished one. I shall never forget that among the anxious days of 1898 it was the Tennessee soldiers in the Philippines who, with untiring persistence, set all others in the line of duty for the new regiments then forming. (Prolonged applause.)

Gallantry of First Tennessee.

They encouraged their comrades and cheered the heart of the whole country. No man can fail to remember and recall in their presence and make heartfelt acknowledgments to the gallant First Tennessee volunteers who, having once embarked on the great struggle, turned homeward and toward those they loved, voluntarily disembarked, and, marching to the relief of our comrades in distress, fought a brave fight, and with them turned defeat into victory. All honor to the First Tennessee volunteers, and all the gratitude of which my heart is capable to the men and women of this city for their magnificent welcome to myself and associates. (Prolonged applause.)

After this speech the party was driven to the Twentieth Century club, a ladies' organization of this city. Here there was a veritable beauty show. About 30 charming southern belles held court in a bower of roses, ranged around a gilded arm chair, which was designed to hold the president. Mr. McKinley, however, was too wary to be caught in the net. He did not take the chair, but he braved the battery of eyes, and after greeting each of the young ladies personally in turn, he was introduced by W. J. Crawford, of The Commercial Appeal, and made a speech.

Ladies Were Entertained.

After this function the ladies of the party were taken in hand by the ladies of Memphis. A reception was held in their honor and later a banquet was given them at the Peabody hotel. At the same time, on the floor above, the president and the gentlemen of his party, with about 200 prominent business men of the city, sat down to an elaborate dinner.

TRIAL OF CAPTAIN READ.

One Witness Said Attempts Had Been Made to Intimidate Him.

Prosecution Rested.

Manila, May 1.—During the second day of the trial of Captain James C. Read, ex-depot commissary at Manila, charged with soliciting and receiving bribes and with other official misconduct, Thomas Harries, a bookkeeper, of the firm of Robinson & Macdonald, testified that Mr. Robinson paid Captain Read $881. The firm's books contained entries to that effect.

Fred Macdonald testified that he arranged to give Captain Read 10 per cent commission on the sales of vegetables furnished to transports. Before testifying Barry Baldwin, formerly United States marshal for California, and now manager of the Macdonald company, shipping merchants, made a statement to the court. He said that attempts had been made to intimidate him and he asked for the protection of the court. He had an affidavit prepared, which he offered to the court, but the latter declined to receive it, and returned it to Mr. Baldwin unread.

Mr. Baldwin testified to having a $200,000 beef contract. Captain Read came to his office and claimed there were slight shortages in the beef deliveries, on account of which Mr. Baldwin gave Captain Read $348.

Adjutant General Garlington testified that Captain Read said Major Davis was short 14,500 pounds of beef. He admitted receiving money from Mr. Baldwin, but said the sum he received would be applied to the beef shortages.

Mr. Wolf, a partner in the firm of Castle Brothers, testified concerning attempts to secure commission for Captain Read out of the sales of vegetables, etc.

Colonel Woodruff, head of the subsistence department at Manila, gave testimony regarding the number of cigars supplied to the Casino.

At this meeting, it is believed, Mr. Ramsay will be made president and Mr. Blickensderfer vice president and general manager. Myron T. Herrick will remain the chairman of the board.

Salem.—Judge Hole, of the supreme court, declared unconstitutional the "screen" ordinance, for the violation of which fines of $50 were imposed on a number of Salem saloonkeepers.

Youngstown.—The Baptist Association of Western Pennsylvania and Eastern Ohio, comprising 42 churches, will hold a convention here, beginning May 10.—The three finishing mills of the Republic Iron and Steel company's Hazelton plant will resume work this week, after a long idleness.—Information received in this city tends to confirm the report that the offices of the National Steel company will be located here.

FEARED OUR ARMIES.

One Stumbling Block Removed During Visit of Cubans to Washington.

New York, May 1.—When asked for a statement, General Porto, one of the Cuban commission, said: "A great stumbling block has been removed. That is all I care to say."

"What stumbling block do you mean, senator?" was asked.

"Section 3 of the Platt amendment," was the answer. "The Cubans have been afraid of our armies. They fear what some call imperialism. Now, in section 3, I think, of the Platt amendment is provided that the United States may send troops into Cuba, whenever, in the opinion of Washington, such action is necessary. This provision awakened widespread suspicion. Many said that it was only a pretext for the United States to continue a standing army in Cuba for all time. The presence of soldiers, and especially those of another people, cannot but be onerous and disconcerting to us."

"Others said that although the United States might withdraw her forces now, she could, under this provision, immediately send them back again. This, then, was a stumbling block. It was perhaps magnified in the eyes of the common people and they demanded that if these suspicions were well founded such a measure should not receive our sanction. But President McKinley soon assured us that these suspicions were groundless. When we said that by this provision the United States had more jurisdiction over Cuba than over any one of its own states, because in the latter case, I understand the national government cannot send troops into a state without the permission of the state government, he said: 'Gentlemen, you need have no fear. Troops will not be sent into Cuba unless conditions are little less than anarchy. The president's answer so convinced us that we could not but be impressed with his sincerity.'

"How do the Cubans feel in regard to independence?" was asked.

"Ninety-nine per cent of our people," the general answered, "want independence. They will not even listen to annexation. They want independence—absolute independence. Now, I do not mean that the Cuban people are not disposed to give the Americans what they—the Americans—will need for their defense. I tell you that if the question of independence is settled and all differences on the subject are eliminated everything else can be arranged."

"What do you mean by independence? Does not each state of the United States have independence?"

"By independence I mean sovereignty. We want to regulate our own international affairs. Our preferences will be for America to help and support us in case of need."

"Are you sure, then, that the United States will grant Cuba its desired independence?"

"Yes, I am sure. And I believe that Washington will soon announce to the world that Cuba is a sovereign power, and that Cuba will indeed be a nation by Feb. 24, 1902."

U. S. STEEL SALES.

About 648,000 Shares Sold Tuesday. Atchisons Were a Strong Feature.

New York, May 1.—The aggregate of sales of all stocks Tuesday went ahead of Monday's hitherto unprecedented total, rising to about 3,202,100 shares. Last Wednesday's record sales of a single stock, which were about 662,800 shares for Union Pacific, compared with Tuesday's sales of about 459,100 shares of United States Steel. The aggregate sales of both the common and preferred stock of United States Steel amounted Tuesday to about 648,000 shares. Another record which was eclipsed Tuesday was that for a single hour's business, sales for the first hour amounting to over a million shares, against the previous maximum of less than 800,000 shares.

The announcement Tuesday morning of the absorption of the Leyland steamship line by J. P. Morgan had a tendency to give a renewed stimulus to the speculation as indicating the continued activity of the most influential individual in the recent great movements toward consolidation. The belief in wholesale consolidations of great railroad systems, even at the enormous expense involved in the buying of control in the open market, is the potent factor in the general speculation. The enthusiastic believers in an indefinite rise in prices argue that a market turnover within a few days of as many shares of a corporation as the whole outstanding capital necessarily indicates a movement to buy control, but it is certainly obvious that a turnover of that amount of stock where the actual control does not pass is proof positive of an enormous amount of purely speculative buying. It may be due to buying and selling and then rebuying many times over of speculative holdings, or it may be due to persistent short selling on every advance and then to cover as the further advance imperils the position of the bears. That such purely speculative transactions formed a large factor in Tuesday's market is probably not seriously doubted. An analysis in detail of Tuesday's market would be futile, so great is its extent and variety, and in the later dealings, its irregularity. Northern Pacific was under pressure of profit taking all day, and Union Pacific and the grangers generally showed its influence as the day progressed.

The Atchisons were the new strong feature on talk of an increase in the dividend. An advance in New York Central brought speculative attention back to the eastern railroads but their gains did not hold well. The United States Steel stocks were comparatively well maintained, closing with net gains of 2 1/4 for the common and 2 for the preferred at reactions of 1 1/4 and 3/4 respectively from the best prices. The heavy profit taking at the last made the closing irregular.

Business was not as large relative to bonds, and the price movement was irregular. Total sales, par value, $6,245,000.

U. S. new 4s advanced 1/8 per cent on the last call.

MARTINELLI'S HONOR.

Received Cardinal's Cap In Washington.

POPE'S MESSENGER BORE IT.

Ceremony Was Both Brief and Simple—Rev. Dr. Conaty Placed the Cap on His Head—Oath to Be Taken at Some Future Date.

Washington, May 1.—Cardinal-elect Martinelli received from the hands of a member of the papal guard of Pope Leo XIII, Count Stanislaus Colacich, who had just arrived from Rome, the consistorial letter formally advising him of his elevation to the cardinalate and the red zucchetto emblematic of that high office. The ceremony, which was brief and simple, occurred at the papal legation about 6 o'clock last evening, in the presence of a number of church dignitaries. Saluting the cardinal-elect, Count Colacich handed him a letter, which was read aloud and proved to be the credentials of the official messenger. Then another letter was handed to the cardinal-elect, who ran through it and handed it to Bishop Kelley, of Savannah, to be read. It was as follows:

"From the Secretary of State, Rome, April 15, 1901.
 To Monsignor Sebastian Martinelli:
 "In the secret consistory of this morning his holiness deigned to elevate to the sublime dignity of the cardinalate Monsignor Sebastian Martinelli. This gracious and sovereign favor is brought to the notice of your eminence for your knowledge and guidance."
 (Signed) "M. Cardinal Rampolli."

When the letter had been read, Count Colacich opened the small red morocco case and took therefrom a red silk zucchetto, or cardinal's skull cap. Dr. Conaty removed the purple cap from the head of Mgr. Martinelli and the latter placed the red cap of high office in its stead. Removing his helmet, Count Colacich addressed the cardinal, saying he had been highly honored in being chosen as the bearer of this message to the delegate. He referred to the long and eminent services of Mgr. Martinelli, his unflinching devotion to the church and to the supreme pontiff, and expressed the hope that the blessing of long life would be given the cardinal for the labors of the exalted station now bestowed on him. Cardinal Martinelli responded briefly. He referred to the illustrious house from which Count Colacich descended. So far as he himself knew, the favor which the sovereign pontiff had deigned to show him was not due to the humble services he had been able to perform, but to the graciousness of the pontiff himself, and as in the past he had always sought to promote the interests of the pontiff and of religion, so, with the help of God, he would continue those labors.

Dr. Rooker was the first to congratulate Cardinal Martinelli on his elevation, and was followed by Dr. Marchetti, the ablegate, and many others present. The cardinal then invited his guests to join him at dinner. It was understood that the formalities of taking the oath would follow the ceremony, but this was deferred until later in the week.

WERE MARRIED IN LONDON.

Lady Sybil Cuffe Made Wife of W. Bayard Cutting, Jr.

London May 1.—W. Bayard Cutting, Jr., secretary of the United States embassy here, and Lady Sybil Cuffe, daughter of the Earl of Desart, were married at All Saints church, this city. The wedding was a comparatively quiet affair. The bride was dressed in ivory satin, with a court train and Brussels lace, and wore pearl and diamond ornaments. Two pairs in Watteau costumes of pale blue satin acted as train-bearers. There were eight bridesmaids. Joseph M. Choate, the United States ambassador, and the other members of the embassy, were among the few guests present outside of the families of the bride and bridegroom. Subsequently there was a reception at the residence of the bride's parents.

A note threatening the kidnaping of his children was received by Dr. William B. Miller, a dentist, of Altoona, Pa.

DRESS AND FASHION.

MATERIALS FOR EVENING GOWNS AND THE LATEST IN COATS.

Net, Grenadine, Gauze, Crepe, Tulle and Other Light Fabrics—Dots, Spots and Rings are Popular—Sweet Taffeta Coats—A Chic Costume.

Silk gauzes, crepe de chine and kindred fabrics are materials of interest in the dressmaking world just now. All are to be worn this season, and many of the tulle will be mingled with tulle threads. Grenadines and silk muslins have the appearance of being braided in conventional patterns. Bow patterns in cord and silk have been introduced on some of the new light fabrics.

Printed effects and patterns formed in upstanding cord are often mingled

TAFFETA BOLERO TAFFETA COAT. on the same material, and the open-work stripes on many of the fancy gauzes, with a thread here and there of tinsel, are most dainty. There are also very pretty silk crepons with pea spots.

Useful evening dresses range from black and white tulle through a lovely gradation of grays and mauves, ecru, parma and persee being the three leading tints in the latter, to most alluring fawn colors and rosy reds.

For good hard wear in the evening there is nothing better than Russian net, mostly in small patterns, though the meshes are large. Some of it is spotted, but much of it is more elaborately designed.

Spots and rings both figure on all gossamer materials for dresses and millinery.

The little boleros and coatees, ending about two inches below the waist, carry all before them in the way of smart and lively styles, while the very swell and distinctly new thing of its kind, as carried out in silk, is the three-quarter coat. Properly fabricated in taffeta, these two lead the spring procession.

The first cut shows one of these little taffeta boleros with the new collar and lapels of mauve panne velvet covered with a new tussore white and gold embroidery. With this is worn an embroidered toque in shades of mauve, with roses and violets.

Still later and very swell is the handsome three-quarter tuckered taffeta coat, with fine black embroidery. It has the new shaped sleeve, terminated with a band of velvet and rows of chiffon. The chiffon boa down the front, with knitted chiffon at neck and cuffs, gives an additional touch of fashion. The hat is a director of finely tuckered silk with plumes and jet ornaments.

The second cut displays the model of a chic promenade toilet composed of the new silken canvas in two shades of pastel gray. Choux and straps of black ribbon velvet pass over the shoulders and narrow in toward the back. The skirt has graduating plaits on either side and forms two volantes en forme, trimmed with black ribbon velvet.

A wrinkle worth noting is the manner in which fine vertical tucks on gowns of veiling or wash goods are finished. The stitching is run into a fine point instead of ending the tuck with its original width.

UP TO DATE ECONOMY.

Why Live If Not to Learn?—The Tyranny of the Kitchen Table.

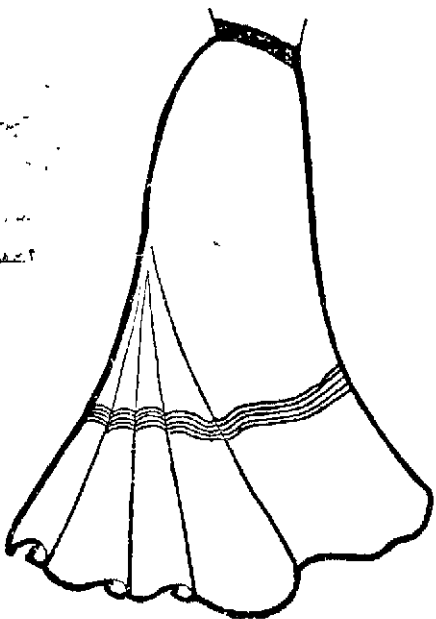

If any one were sufficiently courageous to tell the average thrifty housekeeper that she was extravagant, that maligned individual would look at the daring person with horrified amazement; then she would become indignant and would probably "say things" in very emphatic but truly feminine fashion. And yet, recent it is she might, in the majority of cases it would be true.

Money is not the only thing that is worth saving in this world, nor is it the best thing. But the knowledge of this is always tardy in its arrival. A little stopping once in awhile to think and to take account of one's mental, physical and nerve stock will very soon set things to rights, especially if the women will be sensible and think in the right direction, and, above all, if they will dare to be independent of the opinions of other women, who, like themselves, are held down by tradition, and do the right and sensible way even if it is diametrically opposed to "the old way." Why do we live if not to learn? And why is it that innovations are so warmly welcomed in every other branch of labor and so persistently frowned upon in the domestic branch? That is a puzzle I gave up long ago, says a writer in Woman's Home Companion. The only solution that in any way explained it was the bugaboo of American housewives—the fear of being called "shiftless." But that can't be the answer in these days of women's clubs, with their domestic and economic departments. Therefore all such nonsense should be promptly done away with.

Much of the economy in housekeeping, both of time and strength, depends upon the conveniences one allows oneself for doing the work. There are so many labor saving devices nowadays that every woman should find positive and permanent relief from many burdens. Take, for example, the kitchen table. By some mysterious and inscrutable law, as immovable to all intents and purposes as those of the Medes and Persians, every table for every kitchen is made of a height corresponding to that of all other tables for all other kitchens, and all the women of the country, tall or short, are expected to work at this table; at least they all accept it as though they were compelled to work at it, and they take it, with all the other housekeeping traditions, without a word of protest or complaint. For the woman whose height it accommodates it is all right, but for the taller one it is all wrong, and it may be so easily righted if one will only stop for a moment and consider what is the trouble.

Latest Paris Skirt.

The accepted skirt model from Paris is always eagerly awaited at the beginning of a season, and so graceful and perfect is it this year that it is sure of a hearty reception.

The upper portion is plain, fitting immaculately over the hips, the fullness at the base being set on separately beneath rows of stitching. The skirt is cut to dip down at the waist in front in the most approved fashion.

A New Floor Covering.

The floor covering of bedrooms is entirely a matter of taste. Many object to the hard wood floor even when well covered with rugs. For the country house a foundation of denim for the bedroom floor is excellent, says the New York Tribune. It is as cool and clean as matting, is easily cleaned and has not the odor that accompanies nearly all matting an odor which many people find objectionable. Rugs show well on the blue denim, particularly the cotton Japanese rugs in blue and diab or blue and white.

Notes From The Southern Jeweler.

The snake bracelet is one of the most popular costume ornaments and comes in every grade from the precious gem set to pretty Roman, rose or green finish and sterling silver.

Snake and turquoise matrix effects are in high favor for buckles of every kind.

Gun metal chains punctuated with crystals provide a fashionable and inexpensive adornment.

Chatelaines comprise purse, scent bottle, mirror, tablet or notebook, tiny puff box, bonbonniere and any trinkets one likes to an unlimited number.

A back collar button and scarf holder with a curved post and heart shaped face appears to be a very convenient article.

Patterns in new silver spoons are most gracefully outlined, tip, shell and fiddle designs ranking among the neatest.

Strap bracelets with buckles in fine gold work are fascinating things.

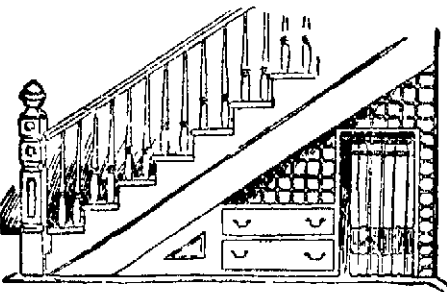

The correct earring is of the screw drop variety.

THE HOME INTERIOR.

A PLEASING HALL SHOULD GIVE THE KEYNOTE TO ALL WITHIN.

Some Arrangements That Combine Originality and Convenience—Beneath the Stairway—A Hall Settle, A Picturesque Corner Chimney.

First impressions of an interior of necessity are gained from the hall. It is for this reason perhaps that special efforts are made to have the hall attractive and, if possible, to incorporate in its furnishing or arrangements some note of originality that will give it a marked individuality of its own. The

BENEATH THE STAIRWAY.

Ladies' World has presented a number of sketches which are an attempt to combine some original ideas with others whose chief motive is convenience. Among them are the two here described.

In hundreds of houses having stairways with straight runs at one side of the hall there is a dark space left beneath the stairway that is anything but desirable. This is usually utilized as a place to stow away coats, capes, jackets, rubbers and umbrellas, and such use of it is all right if a proper treatment is given to the front of the opening. Instead of a yawning cavern appearing when one enters the hall, let there be built an attractive partition beneath the stairway that shall inclose the space to be used for wearing apparel. The illustration shows one way to do this. A low doorway is made where a curtain can be hung, while about this is fretwork. Two drawers to hold shoes, rubbers, storm hats, capes, etc., are placed in the lowest part of the space, their top serving as a shelf within the closet. In the highest part of the space are books for hanging up wearing apparel. The wood should harmonize with the rest of the hall or may be painted if the hall is painted.

When the arrangement of the hall does not permit of a built in seat, and where the floor room is ample, a hall settle is decidedly attractive and also decidedly convenient, if, like the one in the illustration, it has an open space beneath it for the accommodation of rubbers and storm clothing and a drawer where the tennis rackets and balls can be placed when coming in from a game.

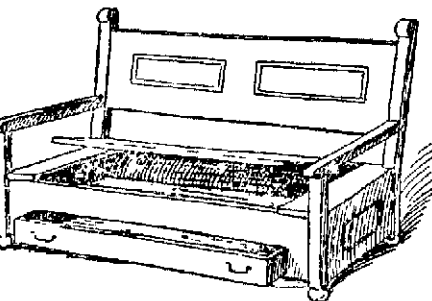

This settle is simple of construction, but as substantial in appearance as the oak of which it is made. Its lack of fancy ornamentation and carving can be made up by giving it a beautiful surface finish, to which oak wood lends itself so perfectly. Of course care must be taken to have the lid made of well seasoned wood, and it must fit snugly without binding. The hinges should be of ornamental oxidized metal.

An open fireplace is specially attractive in a hall. One which has the merit of being somewhat out of the usual run is built in a corner, and its top recedes with each course of bricks until it disappears in the corner at the bottom of the border of the wall paper. The bricks may be the common red pressed bricks or bricks in any of the very attractive colors that are now furnished—white, black, buff, gray, etc. The same chimney that goes up behind this corner may be made to afford open fireplaces in other rooms that join the hall.

The hall is without doubt the keynote of the home within. Cheerful colors and delightful cleanliness should here reign, and the chance visitor, with an agreeable atmosphere at the very threshold, will endeavor to bring no note of discord to mar the harmony that greets him.

Furniture should be substantial and ornamented very little. Carpets should be either warm in tone or of colors that will not show dust and of very small figure.

It is an excellent plan to use stair and floor covering of the same pattern.

A HALL SETTLE.

If the stairs are carpeted at all, rather than the bordered carpeting watching the floor, as the stairs seem wider without the distinctly outlining borders and change to better advantage when all is alike.

The modern staircase is of hard wood and is usually left uncarpeted.

Fashion's Echoes.

Beige is a favorite color of the season.

The disk, or plateau, hat grows a little too generally popular.

Taffeta is the watchword for smart wear and carriage use.

Gray swiss is an odd and rather attractive variation in gowns.

Silk tucking is economical and effective adornment for separate bodices.

American tailor made hats now set a fashion for the world.

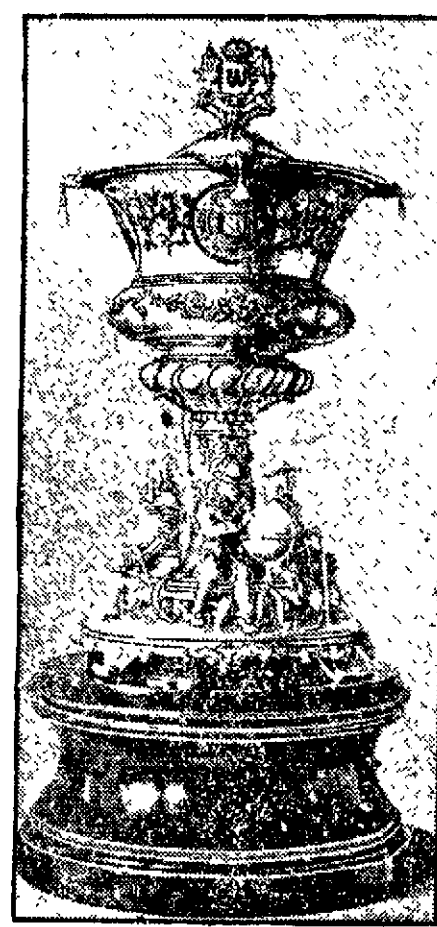

Small button roses in pink, with a stylish bow of black velvet on a black and white crinoline hat, are charming.

QUEEN'S WEDDING GIFT.

Descendants of New York Dutch Send Silver Cup to Wilhelmina.

The St. Nicholas society of New York, desirous of showing its good will toward the country whence came the ancestors of many of its members, has just presented to the young queen of Holland a beautiful wedding gift. It is a fine example of American art in the form of a silver cup, decorated with American pearls, and was made by the leading jewelers of New York.

This "queen's cup" is a fine piece of silver and is, with its base, about 20 inches in height. It is after the old Dutch school in shape, and its cover is surmounted by the royal arms of Holland. Around the cup are medallions, one showing the Half Moon, the little ship which brought over Henry Hudson. Another medallion has an old view of Manhattan Island. There are also on the cup the seals of New Amsterdam and of the St. Nicholas society. Running around the cup back of these medallions are the ivy leaves of friendship, and above are the heads of American eagles, with American pearls hanging from their beaks. Below the medallions festoons of roses encircle the cup, and at the base are modeled figures of St. Nicholas, Henry Hudson, Peter Stuyvesant and Admiral Evensen. The last named commanded the Dutch fleet which retook New Amsterdam from the English in 1673.

The base of the cup is made of wood taken from an old Dutch church of New York. It bears a plate with the following inscription: "To her gracious majesty Queen Wilhelmina. A marriage gift from the St. Nicholas society of New York, 1901." An illuminated address accompanies the cup.

THEY RIDE ASTRIDE.

No Sidesaddles For the Fair Equestriennes of Boston.

Boston, with its long and fairly earned reputation for the staidness, demureness and retiring studiousness of its bespectacled young women, has just sprung a novel sensation on the American public. Boston young women, residents of the aristocratic Back Bay district and bearing historic Puritan names, have actually appeared in the public eye riding horses "man fashion"—that is, with one feminine "limb" on each side of the equine body.

The recent horse show in Boston was the occasion of the "exhibition," as some folks term it. Boldly, in view of great audiences, these young women, about a dozen of them, mounted, dismounted and cantered about, giving by all the object lessons possible what they consider to be irrefutable arguments in favor of the adoption by the weaker sex of the masculine fashion of riding astride. The "new" equestriennes sat their horses firmly and put them through all sorts of paces to show that what men could do with horseflesh could be duplicated by women.

Omega Oil

FOR WOMEN—You would be surprised like everything if you knew how many women use Omega Oil, the wonderful liniment that stops pain. Some of these women are away up in society, too, and have their maids rub the oil on them. Poor people, who can't afford maids, either rub themselves with Omega Oil, or get some one in the family to do it. You see, it is so very good for tired shoulders, lame backs, stiff joints, sore throat, cold in the chest and rheumatism that you can't blame people for using it. Why, in a good many families, they get out a bottle of Omega Oil every night before they go to bed, because some one is sure to have a pain somewhere or other. This weather seems to make an awful lot of pains, and Omega Oil is just as necessary to health as an overcoat or a heavy wrap. It is good for everything a liniment ought to be good for.

Your druggist sells Omega Oil, or can get it for you at any wholesale drug store. The Omega Chemical Co., 237 Broadway, New York, will mail a bottle, prepaid, for 50c in cash, money order or stamp.

LEADING AND MOST SUCCESSFUL SPECIALIST IN THE WORLD.

He cures sick men and women, and has an established reputation for honesty and reliability. He keeps his promises.

The Bible says: "In the mouths of two or three witnesses shall every word be established." Here are several witnesses.

Dr. Kutchin has hundreds of such testimonials, but never publishes a name unless asked to do so. Read what these cured and happy people have to say.

WHY DON'T YOU SEE THE DOCTOR BEFORE IT IS TOO LATE?

SNATCHED FROM THE JAWS OF DEATH.

I was desperately ill for several years with Bright's Disease of the Kidneys. I had as good doctors as I could get in this part of the country, but they did not help me. I was almost blind, and the doctors gave me up to die.

My father took me to Dr. Kutchin, and while he would not promise to cure me, he gave me treatment. I have doctored with him for 4 months. Now I can go any place and am improving so rapidly that I feel about as well as ever. I cheerfully recommend Dr. Kutchin. Will answer letters if stamp is enclosed. MRS. CHARLES YANNAYON, Pittman, Ohio.

THIS FRENCHMAN'S EXPERIENCE IS GOOD READING.

Versailles, O., April, 1901.

For seven years I never drew a well breath. I took Peruana and all the other patent medicines until I had enough bottles as in my house to start a drug store. I tried seven or eight local doctors. Nothing ever helped me. Finally I went to see Dr. Kutchin, and he pronounced my disease Bronchial Catarrh. In three months I gained eighteen pounds. I am getting well as fast as a man can.

Dr. Kutchin is very reasonable in his charges and I would have saved hundreds of dollars if I had gone to him sooner. I advise all the sick to doctor with him, for they will never regret it. JOSEPH SAINTIGNON.

CURED SEVEN YEARS AGO.

I was in deep trouble 7 years ago. In fact, I was about dead. I had a bad case of catarrh of the stomach and disease of the kidneys. I could not do any work without playing out. I was bloated, nervous, sleepless, with pain in my back and a tired, all-gone feeling. I used to get up in the morning more tired than when I went to bed. Nothing helped me. I had often heard of Dr. Kutchin and I determined to go and see him. He took my case and cured me. I owe my life to him. This was six years ago. I keep well and strong. My advice to the sick is—go and see Dr. Kutchin. If he can't do you good he will tell you so. He is reliable in every way, and you can depend on him. I will answer letters enclosing stamp. H. G. ABELL, Corland, Ohio.

ONE PATENT WRITES.

"I was brought up on a farm, but at 20 was a nervous wreck. I was morose, despondent and gloomy; nervous, sunken eyes with dark circles; no ambition; cold hands and feet; memory poor; back weak; dragging feeling in loins; varicose; palpitation of the heart; half loose; pimples on face. My hollow cheeks, stooping form and downcast countenance revealed the height of my existence. Doctors treated me for consumption, but did not help me. I was recommended by a friend to try Doctor Kutchin. His treatment made me a different man. I was radically and permanently cured. My nerves became strong—my blood pure—gained 15 pounds—eyes bright and cheerful—a new life opened up, and I felt myself a man in every respect—mentally and physically."

The doctor has been visiting this county for eight years.

His Vehicle Struck by a Passenger Train.

CHERRY STREET CROSSING

A Train Passing on One Track Hit That on the Other From View—Groff Attempted to Drive Across, and the Locomotive Hit the Rear Portion of His Buggy—Ankle Broken and Injured Internally.

The buggy of John Groff, of Sippo, was struck by a Pennsylvania railway passenger train, at the Cherry street crossing, at 10 o'clock Saturday night. Groff was driving home. A westbound freight train was passing when he reached the crossing. After it had cleared the street he attempted to drive across the tracks. The west bound train hit the passenger bowling eastward. The latter shattered the rear of Groff's buggy, and hurled its occupant nearly a hundred feet into a ravine. Simon Waizer, who, in a buggy, had also been waiting for the trains to pass, witnessed the accident. Summoning assistance, he made an investigation, and found Groff unconscious.

Dr. Culbertson and Rudy's ambulance were summoned, and Groff was removed to his home. He was found to have a fractured ankle, an injured back and internal injuries whose extent is not yet known. Groff has a wife and family. He is a brother of Veterinary Surgeon F. Z. Groff, of Sippo, and an uncle of Veterinary Surgeon William Groff, of this city.

When the engineers of the train which struck Groff's buggy were seen they professed entire ignorance of what had occurred. They said they neither heard or saw anything unusual at the crossing.

A SETTLEMENT REACHED.

Miners and Operators of Tuscarawas District Agree.

The Tuscarawas District Coal Operators' Association and the officials of the miners' organization reached a settlement at Canton on Saturday afternoon. The signatures in behalf of the operators includes that of T. F. Geltz, of this city, representing the Ridgway Burton Coal Company. The pick mining scale is to be the same as last year, with the additions agreed to at New Philadelphia last March.

The machine scale for the Lindentree and Magnolia mines will be: Narrow cutting, 25 cents per ton; wide cutting, 30 cents per ton; shooting and leading narrow work, 58 cents per ton; shooting and leading wide work, 48 cents per ton. An exception is made in the case of the C. W. Somers mine, at Sherodsville, where last year's scale will be continued. The coal in this mine is much higher than elsewhere in the district. The new scale is a change from day work to tonnage work, and the prices are based upon the findings of Messrs. Geltz, McIntosh, Haskins and Jenkins, who were appointed a committee, a month ago, to make an investigation at various mines in the district.

N. O. T. CO. WILL BUILD.

Is Not Interested in Waiting's Effort to Secure a Franchise.

Relative to the story in circulation that the Northern Ohio Traction Company was interested in Julius Whiting's effort to secure a street railway franchise in Canton, in his bid guaranteeing a three cent fare, an official of the company, in an interview in the Akron Beacon, says: "It's all nonsense. Why we fought against Mr. Whiting's Turkeyfoot lake scheme, and we wouldn't have done that had we been in a deal with him. If we had desired to bid, we had a perfect right to do so, but we did not want the franchise. I know nothing of the men or company backing Mr. Whiting, and in fact don't care to know anything about it. We are going to build a road to Canton and Massillon, no matter if a dozen roads are built. Of course it is natural to blame us because we expect to build a line to that city, but we have nothing to do with it. All the material for our Canton line has been bought, and we are almost ready to begin work."

IN EARLY DAYS.

First and Only Powder Mill in Stark County.

In his reminiscences of Canton's pioneer days, Mr. John R. Danner, in Saturday's News-Democrat, gives a biographical sketch of the late Jacob Myers, who came from Maryland to Canton in 1811. In the course of the article Mr. Danner says: "At one time Jacob Myers owned part of the land on which the city of Massillon now stands, near where Sippo creek empties in the Tuscarawas river; some distance up the small stream he built a saw mill and a powder mill. I think this was the only powder mill ever established in the county. In the early days the Indians had camps on the west bank of the Tuscarawas river. About 1815 Mr. Myers sold his Massillon property to Folger & Coffin and I think they afterwards sold it to Mr. Roach, who built a woolen factory further up the stream."

SAVED BY A WORD.

Remarkable Experience of the Rev. D. N. Lyon.

THIRTY YEARS IN CHINA.

A Slight Alteration in a Message Sent by the Dowager Empress Saved the Lives of All the Foreigners in a Southern Chinese Province—The Rev. H. C. Weakly at the First M. E. Church.

The Rev. D. N. Lyon, who is spending his vacation in Wooster after a thirty years' experience as a missionary in southern China, told an interesting story of his life among the Chinese at the Presbyterian church in this city on Sunday morning. Mr. Lyon ably defended the cause of missions and was emphatic in his assertion that the missionaries in China were not the cause of the recent outbreak among the Boxers. A notable exception to many other missionaries, Mr. Lyon remained at his post throughout the uprising. Had it not been for the alteration of a word in the proclamation which the Dowager Empress sent to the Chinese authorities in his province, all the foreigners there would have been killed. The original message said: "Exterminate the foreigners." When it reached its destination the first word had been changed to "protect."

Mr. Lyon considers the opium traffic one of the greatest evils in China. He told about being interrupted in one of his sermons by a native who called out: "You brought us opium, and if you can relieve us from the evils of opium you will have heaven upon heaven. If you can't relieve us you will have hell upon hell." The missionary explained, of course, that the Americans were not responsible for the opium evil, but all foreigners are alike to the ignorant Chinaman.

METHODIST HOME FOR AGED.

Dr. H. C. Weakley, of Cincinnati, superintendent of the Methodist Home for the Aged, at Yellow Springs, near Springfield, conducted services at the First Methodist church Sunday morning. Dr. Weakley gave a general description of the Home and its objects, saying that an effort was being made to endow the institution, which is at present without means for permanent maintenance. No subscriptions were solicited, however. He said he wished merely to present the matter. The Home was formerly a hotel. It now has fourteen inmates. It is large enough to accommodate a hundred. Dr. Weakley went to Wooster Sunday evening.

CALLED FOR THE POLICE.

Being Beyond Their Jurisdiction. However, the Officers Could Not Respond—The Case of "the Ruins of a Pugilist"—Other Police Court Notes.

"Murder is being done here! For God's sake come quick!" That was the telephone message received at the police headquarters in a woman's voice Saturday night. It came from J. A. Coxey's residence at Pauls. Policeman Getz informed the sender that Pauls was beyond the force's jurisdiction, and advised that the constable at Crystal Spring be notified. It seems that a party of Massillonians went to the Coxey quarries and mingled with the hard citizens there employed. The manner in which the trouble started is not known, but it began with fists and successively clubs and stones were introduced. Knives and a gun or two are also said to have been drawn, but not used. No one was badly hurt. The participants in the brawl fought all over the premises, at one time reaching the porch of Mr. Coxey's residence, some of the fighters endeavoring to find safety there. Mr. Coxey was not at home.

MR. YINGLING'S CASE.

"The ruins of a pugilist," as people about police headquarters have referred to Fred Yingling, Monday morning was assisted to Cleveland by the township trustees. Yingling has been in the city jail for several days past, fighting off scores of imaginary enemies. He was crazed with drink. Under a physician's care he gradually became himself, and he declares that he will reform when he reaches Cleveland, where he will live with a sister.

A CLAY STREET BRAWL.

A row in Clay street required the attention of the police at 8 o'clock Saturday night. A half dozen persons were much disfigured. They will have a hearing this evening.

COUNTY SEAT NEWS.

Work Commenced on the Canton-Akron Railway.

CANTON, April 29.—Through their attorneys, McCarty, Craine & McDowell, William A. McCrea and Edward Danne-miller have brought suit against John A. Simonds, asking for a judgment for $6,211.10, with interest from April 4, 1901. The defendant in the case leased the property of the plaintiffs, known as the Barnett House, in August, 1897, for five years. The amount of the rental was to be $500 per month for the first year, $600 for the second and third years and $700 for the remainder of the time for which the lease was made. Since that time money has been paid at various times and at present it is alleged there is due the plaintiffs the amount for which the judgment is asked. The amount also includes $126.26 for repairs to the boiler which the defendant's employees are said to have damaged by putting fire under the same when there was no water therein.

One hundred and four scholars of various schools throughout the county took an examination, under the Boxwell law, at the high school Saturday. A class was also examined at Alliance. At the examination held a month ago there were 144 who appeared and Saturday's list will make nearly 300 for the year, a good increase over the previous years. The successful ones will graduate at a county commencement to be held in Canton probably on the second Saturday in June.

Work on the construction of the Canton-Akron electric railway commenced this morning. Teams, tools and material were taken to a point near New Berlin, and ground will be broken Tuesday morning.

John C. Welty is in New Philadelphia today, conferring with the commissioners of Tuscarawas county in reference to a franchise for an electric line through the county to New Philadelphia.

Of the 200 lots in the proposed new addition to the city, 172 have been sold. A motion to increase the allowance to widow for year's support in the estate of Joseph Hair, Bethlehem township, has been allowed. The allowance has been fixed at $150.

In the estate of Elmer S. Eschliman, Lawrence township, David H. Eschliman has been appointed administrator.

In the estate of Sarah Reed, Jackson township, inventory and appraisal filed and private sale of personal property ordered.

In the guardianship of Peter D. Donat, Tuscarawas township, second partial account filed.

A marriage license has been granted to Rudy B. Buegin, of Orrville, and Miss Bessie Becher, of Massillon.

Following is a list of those who have been bound over to appear before the grand jury at the next term of court:

Seeman Fish, charged with interfering with street railway company's rights. He is in jail.

Peter Speicher and Benjamin Evans, assault with intent to kill. Out on bail. James Maher, burglary and larceny. Released on bail.

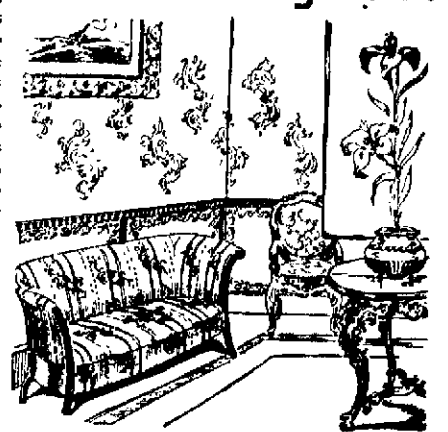

Frank F. Ertle, charged with arson. Released on bail.

Charles W. White, housebreaking. In jail.

David Lowery, larceny. Committed. Frank Samner, burglary and larceny. Committed.

Edward Middaugh, non-support of minor child. On bail.

COUNTS YOUR MONEY.

All You Need to Do is to Shovel It Into This Ingenious Machine.

The Chicago Times Herald believes most people have no trouble in counting their money and few ever complain of the trouble attendant upon doing so. There are some people, however, who find the task of counting coin an exceedingly trying and onerous one, and these are the clerks in banks and certain of the government departments, where large sums of money are daily handled. The United States treasury in Chicago is one of these departments, but there the drudgery of counting coin is now a thing of the past.

This is because of a little device that is now in operation in the treasury rooms in the Rand-McNally building. The invention of Captain Robert L. Porter, chief of the secret service agents attached to the treasury. Captain Porter's machine looks like a miniature cornsheller, such as they use on the farm. It is fastened to the edge of the tables on which the coins are piled up. On the side of the machine is a little dial. When a clerk wants to count $1,000 or $100,000, he just shovels the coins into the hopper of the machine and turns the crank. The coins pass through the machine and fall into a bag suspended for their reception, while an exact register of the amount is recorded on the dial. Mistakes are impossible, there is no brain worry, and the process is eight or ten times faster than it is possible to attain by hand. As an illustration, the machine will count $1,000 in quarter in seven minutes, while to count that sum by hand will take the most expert clerk in the treasury four hours, with the attendant liability of mistakes on his part. Of course the same machine will not handle various sized coins, and there have to be separate ones for dimes, quarters, halves and $1 pieces.

Over-Work Weakens Your Kidneys.

Unhealthy Kidneys Make Impure Blood.

All the blood in your body passes through your kidneys once every three minutes. The kidneys are your blood purifiers, they filter out the waste or impurities in the blood. If they are sick or out of order, they fail to do their work. Pains, aches and rheumatism come from excess of uric acid in the blood, due to neglected kidney trouble.

Kidney trouble causes quick or unsteady heart beats, and makes one feel as though they had heart trouble, because the heart is over-working in pumping thick, kidney-poisoned blood through veins and arteries. It is used to be considered that only urinary troubles were to be traced to the kidneys but now modern science proves that nearly all constitutional diseases have their beginning in kidney trouble.

If you are sick you can make no mistake by first doctoring your kidneys. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases and is sold on its merits by all druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar sizes. You may have a sample bottle by mail. Home of Swamp-Root, free, also pamphlet telling you how to find out if you have kidney or bladder trouble. Mention this paper when writing Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y.

Aguinaldo's sincerity in referring to "the glorious banner" of the United States may be doubtful, but there is nothing doubtful about the fact that the former insurgent leader fully recognizes and submits to the inevitable and admits that the great majority of his fellow countrymen have unmistakably declared in favor of peace.

The elimination of national issues from the fall campaign leaves the Democratic press and orators hard up for campaign material. There is nothing to be said or written about the conduct of state affairs by the Republicans who have been in charge ever since the second Monday in January, 1892. The affairs of Ohio have never been in better shape than now.

President McKinley's words to the young men of the University of Virginia offer encouragement to the youth of the entire country. "Let me assure you gentlemen," he said, "that the present and the future hold rich reward for good scholarship, high character, and noble endeavor; and the wish which I leave with you is that of these you may have your full share."

Philip King, the financial and commercial statistician, says that the recent unfavorable weather has done little if any damage in the grain producing sections of the country, and reports from all sources indicate that the condition of the grain field as a whole has been improved since April 1, some states declaring the condition to be perfect. Fortune seems to have a tender spot in her heart these days for the agriculturists of the country.

Three-quarters of the current fiscal year have passed, completing a record that must be gratifying to all American citizens who desire to see the balance of trade continued on the right side of the ledger and a continued growth in the commerce of the country. As the result of an examination of the commercial situation, the fact plainly appears that whatever other reason may be urged for any tariff tinkering, little can be found to justify anything of that sort so far as the nation's foreign trade is concerned.

Mrs. Carrie Nation, who brought herself conspicuously before the public by leading riots against the saloons of Kansas, and who is now believed to be insane, has doubtless been sincerely religious and perfectly convinced of the necessity and propriety of her proceedings in compassing the destruction of the property of persons whom she believed to be wrongdoers. But she has been angry too often. She has used too much passionate language and she has allowed hysterics to overbalance common sense. Overindulgence in the luxury of rebuking sin and judging sinners has proved her mental undoing.

The Cuban delegates from the constitutional convention will return to Havana much better informed as to the meaning of the Platt amendment and the intentions of the United States toward Cuba than they were before they came to Washington, and as a result the convention may be helped to know its own mind better, with reference to the question of relations with the United States, than has been possible under the guidance of the multitude of conflicting councils which it has hitherto received. There is very little doubt but that the convention will adopt the amendment without any substantial modification of its terms.

THE QUALITIES OF SCHOLARSHIP.

Greater credit would have reflected upon the alumni and overseers of Harvard university had the advisability of conferring upon President McKinley the honorary degree of LL. D. been considered without giving the newspapers an opportunity for discussing the situation. As the matter rests, the university overseers have expressed themselves unanimously in favor of making the President a doctor of laws and it remains with Mr. McKinley to say whether or not he will receive the degree. Harvard has suffered by the wide publicity which has been given to the protests. The President has not been affected by it.

Senator Hoar's pungent reply at the Boston Home Market Club's dinner to the objections of those who have averred that the President has not won his title to scholarship is an able defense of the economic policy which has enriched the country, and a well deserved rebuke to the intellectual snobs who have sought to belittle its author. Senator Hoar said of McKinley:

"I see that some worthy gentlemen are denying him the right to the title of scholar. William McKinley had, before he was President, stated to the American people, with the beauty and precision not equalled in that discussion since the time of Hamilton, the great argument for the doctrine of the great economic school which Hamilton founded. He conducted the debate, not before a shouting rabble, not before angry and bitter zealots, but before the business men of America, eager to promote the interest of American trade and manufactures, and before the skilled workmen of America, eager to increase their day's wages. And he convinced the courts he addressed. When was it heard before that statesmanship and oratory were not the qualities of scholarship in a great republic? It is the bee that fills the hive with honey that deserves even the degree of A. B., and not the drone who does nothing but eat and buzz, which tries to sting, but cannot sting."

THE FIRES IN OHIO

The first annual report of the state fire marshal, prepared in convenient pamphlet form, is an interesting document. The record of the marshal's office shows that there were reported from the 1st of August, 1900, to January 1, 1901, 2,781 fires, which indicates that during the year there must have been at least 6,672 fires in the state. In 380 fires reported there were no losses. The value of property involved amounts to $13,748,756, while the amount of loss was $2,922,887, indicating that the total value of property in the state destroyed by fire during the year was more than six million dollars. The record further shows that 1,569 fires were caused by carelessness, either direct or indirect; directly, as in the handling of kerosene, gasoline, etc., and indirectly, as from carelessness in the construction of buildings. There were 950 fires of incendiary and unknown cause. There were 19 lives lost by fire and 9 persons who were badly burned, but recovered. These statistics are, of course, but a small proportion of those given in the report.

It will be recalled that the law creating the office of the state fire marshal was passed by the seventy-fourth general assembly in April, 1900. On May 30, by virtue of the authority vested in him, Governor Nash appointed S. D. Hollenbeck fire marshal. The office was a new departure for Ohio, there being no similar office in any of the middle or western states. It was not until the subject had been given much careful study that organization was actively begun. Mr. Hollenbeck's first report shows that during the five months since the office has been in active operation more has been accomplished than had been expected. The study and consequent better understanding of fires that result from carelessness, direct and indirect, and the deterrent effect of investigation and the conviction of the criminal will materially reduce the disproportionate fire loss of the state. The report says in conclusion:

"In the last five years the fire loss of the state has aggregated $37,000,000, while the loss to the insurer was but $22,000,000. Thus it is seen that there was an absolute loss to the owners of property of more than $15,000,000. The necessity of the situation is apparent. The success which the office has already attained in so short a period, demonstrates that the existence of the fire marshal's office is closely allied with the highest welfare and prosperity of the people of the state."

Paris Exposition Prizes.

The United States received more prizes at the Paris exposition than any other nation, except France, the total being 1,981. It is also a remarkable fact, that though the inhabitants of every country suffer from digestive troubles, and though every clime offers some alleviative therefrom, it remains for America to produce an absolutely reliable remedy for such common diseases. This remedy is Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. Half a century ago it was placed upon the market, and from that day to this it has never been equaled. It has an almost unparalleled record for the cure of dyspepsia, indigestion, constipation, sick headache, sour stomach, belching, heartburn, nervousness, fatigue, insomnia or any other disturbance of the stomach. Be sure to give it a trial.

IN ARID ARIZONA.

There Stretches the Land of Promise.

TRIUMPHS OF R. M. LING.

A Former Massillonian, who Has Returned to His Native Heath, is Enthusiastic in His Praises of the Territory, Where He is Winning Fame and Fortune

Reese M. Ling, of Prescott, Ariz., who is a guest at the residence of Dr. and Mrs. D. S. Gardner, lived in Massillon seventeen years ago. He is a nephew of the late Captain Henry Huber. Mr. Ling went West because Horace Greeley and other great men said it was the thing to do, and he has never regretted it. The secretary of a large mining concern, a United States district attorney and the possessor of a lucrative general law practice that is growing with the territory, Mr. Ling naturally sees more in Arizona, the scene of his triumphs, than is given in most geographies.

"Arizona," said Mr. Ling, today, "is a young man's country. It is a place where pluck, perseverance and intrinsic worth count for something. There men stand or fall on their own merits. It is a poor place to go if one has the idea that the land owes him a living, but for the man who knows how to work and is willing to use his knowledge, it is the country where results can be achieved."

Mr. Ling says that nothing is more aggravating to the average citizen of Arizona than to see the territory characterized as "wild and woolly," and the population described as wearers of fierce mustaches, who shoot out their lights and pick their teeth with bowie knives. It is at the door of "The Arizona Kicker" that the blame for this impression is laid by the people of the territory, and Mr. Ling himself says that the writings of the Kicker man have done more to retard the progress of Arizona than any other single cause.

Mr. Ling is a firm believer in the theory of irrigation, and he feels that it is only a matter of time until not only the arid lands of Arizona, but all of the other now unproductive regions of the West will be irrigated by one single system. "Ours is a soil," said he, "that needs only the assistance of water to make it second to none in productivity."

The lodge of Elks of Prescott, of which Mr. Ling is a past exalted ruler, has a membership of more than two hundred. It was organized before the Massillon branch. The society is now contemplating the erection of a $35,000 building in Prescott.

The mining concern with which Mr. Ling is connected is the McCabe Extension Mining and Milling Company, capitalized at $1,500,000. A considerable quantity of the stock is held by Ohioans, including some Massillonians. The claims owned by the company are situated in the Big Bug district, which is famous for its gold and silver production. In this region is located the United Verde mine, whose monthly product is estimated at $1,000,000 by the Prescott Journal-Miner.

The average wages paid for unskilled labor in the territory, Mr. Ling states, is $2.50 a day. Miners are paid $3.50 a day. Labor unions, Mr. Ling says, are as strong in the West as in the East. All of the men employed at his company's mines are organized.

Mr. Ling is a Democrat, and he has been identified with politics for twelve years. He was secretary of the board of railroad commissioners appointed by Governor Hughes, and has been chairman of the Democratic territorial committee four years successively. In the campaign of 1894 Mr. Ling distinguished himself in the oratorical field. He was then secretary of the Democratic territorial organization. When Mr. Ling first went to Arizona he taught school at Walnut Grove, near Prescott. He was the first graduate of the territorial normal school at Tempe. Mr. Ling is now serving his third term as district attorney.

A cough is not a disease but a symptom. Consumption and bronchitis, which are the most dangerous and fatal diseases, have for their first indication a persistent cough, and if properly treated as soon as this cough appears are easily cured. If it is not beneficial it will not cost you a cent. For sale by E. S. Craig, Z. T. Baltzly and Rider & Snyder.

DOES NOT TAKE HEART.

Angler Hodnot Says Warden's Fish Can't Live in Tuscarawas.

William Hodnot, the veteran of the rod, who says there are no fish in the river hereabouts, "does not take heart" at the statement of the deputy game warden that the stream is shortly to be stocked with bass and catfish. "Nothing can live in that water," said Mr. Hodnot, "that is worth catching. At Akron all sorts of poisonous refuse gets into the canal from those works there, and through the waste-ways it gets into the river. It'll do no good to stock the stream around these parts."

Minna, says the following in regard to Peruna: "As a remedy for catarrh I can cheerfully recommend Peruna. I know what it is to suffer from that terrible disease and I feel that it is my duty to speak a good word for the tonic that brought me immediate relief. Peruna cured me of a bad case of catarrh and I know it will cure any other sufferer from that disease."

Miss Mattie L. Guild, President Illinois Young People's Christian Temperance Union, in a recent letter from Chicago, Ill., says:

"I doubt if Peruna has a rival in all the remedies recommended to-day for catarrh of the system. A remedy that will cure catarrh of the stomach will cure the same condition of the mucous membrane anywhere. I have found it the best remedy I have ever tried for catarrh, and believing it worthy my endorsement I gladly accord it."

Mrs. Elmer Fleming, orator of Reservoir Council No. 168, Northwestern Legion of Honor, of Minneapolis, Minn., writes from 2535 Polk street, N.E.:

"I have been troubled all my life with catarrh in my head. I took Peruna for a month or three months, and now think I am permanently cured. I believe that for catarrh in all its forms Peruna is the medicine of the age. It cures when all other remedies fail. I can heartily recommend Peruna as a catarrh remedy."

Mrs. Elmer Fleming, Minneapolis, Minn.

The spring is the time to treat catarrh. Cold, wet winter weather often retards a cure of catarrh. If a course of Peruna is taken during the early spring months the cure will be prompt and permanent. There can be no failures if Peruna is taken intelligently during the favorable weather of spring.

As a systemic catarrh remedy Peruna eradicates catarrh from the system wherever it may be located. It cures catarrh of the stomach or bowels with the same certainty as catarrh of the head.

For a free book containing valuable advice on the causes and treatment of catarrh, address The Peruna Medicine Co., Columbus, Ohio.

THE NAVARRE EXTENSION.

The Franchise is Formally Granted to C. M. E. Co.

President W. A. Lynch, General Manager Fogle and Local Agent Killinger, of the Canton-Massillon Electric Railway Company, Tuesday evening appeared before the Navarre council, which granted that concern a twenty-five year franchise between Massillon and that village. The franchise is to become void if the road is not in operation within four months. Mr. Lynch assured the council that the construction of the line would be commenced immediately. The franchise was practically granted six weeks ago, but the law requires that such legislation must be advertised a certain time before it becomes effective.

"I have been suffering from Dyspepsia for the past twenty years and have been unable after trying all preparations and physicians to get any relief. After taking one bottle of Kodol Dyspepsia Cure I found relief and am now in better health than I have been for twenty years. I can not praise Kodol Dyspepsia Cure too highly." This writes Mrs. C. W. Roberts, North Creek Ark. Chas. W. Cupples, 139 West Tremont street, Rider & Snyder, 12 E. Main St.

The Great Scourge

of modern times is consumption. Many cures and discoveries from time to time are published but Foley's Honey and Tar does truthfully claim to cure all cases in the early stages and always affords comfort and relief in the very worst cases. Take no substitute. Rider & Snyder.

If people only knew what we know about Kodol Dyspepsia Cure, it would be used in nearly every household, as there are few people who do not suffer from a feeling of fullness after eating, belching, flatulence, sour stomach or water-brash, caused by indigestion or dyspepsia. A preparation such as Kodol Dyspepsia Cure, which, with no aid from the stomach, will digest your food, certainly can't help but do you good. C. W. Cupples, 139 W. Tremont street, Rider & Snyder, 12 E. Main street.

Nerves Need Fuel

To feed the vital fires or they lose the power to regulate and control the body. Unnatural stimulants won't do. Like an air blast on dying embers they cause a sudden flash of heat--then all is dead. Give the nerves plenty of fuel, and the worry and fretting, the headaches, the nervousness, loss of sleep, deranged digestion, neuralgia, rheumatism and heart troubles, that burn up the brain substance and destroy the nerve-force, will disappear forever. Don't wait till the fires are burned out. Begin now.

"I was so nervous and restless that I could get little sleep, and the headaches were something dreadful. Pains would start in the temples and travel down the chords at the back of my neck to chest and arms. Doctors gave no relief, but Dr. Miles' Nervine cured me."

Mrs. A. H. Wierman, German Valley, Ill.

Dr. Miles' Nervine

Chairman Ashenurst, of the Prohibition state executive committee, has issued a call for a state convention to be held at Akron on May 15-16. The ticket to be nominated at Akron must be placed on the ballot by petition, for the party failed to cast one per cent. of the total vote polled in Ohio last fall.

Edward Frye, the girl netter shot by Game Warden Ruckel at Long lake, last Wednesday night, died in the Akron hospital Friday evening. Frye was 40 years old and leaves a wife and three children. The game wardens have not been arrested and will not be. The grand jury may look into the matter. Public sympathy is almost entirely with the officers.

At the last meeting of the Stark County Soldiers' Relief Commission at the court house, in Canton, a reorganization was effected by the election of E. A. Jones, Massillon, as president, and H. S. Moses, Canton, as secretary. Various applications for relief were considered and among them one from a widow of a soldier in the Spanish-American war. This is the first application to be presented in connection with the late war.

Judge Hale at Lisbon on Tuesday handed down an opinion declaring the ordinance abolishing saloon screens, enacted recently in the East Liverpool council, unconstitutional. Three East Liverpool saloonists, D. A. Devine, John Walsh and Aaron Guthrie, were recently arrested and fined $50 each for violating this ordinance. These were test cases, and the plaintiffs will file petitions in error in common pleas court.

Operator W. Kesler, of the Wheeling junction at Navarre, narrowly escaped death Monday afternoon. He attempted to board a yard engine which was crossing the bridge on the transfer and lost his footing. He was thrown to the ground and a stick of wood that lay there penetrated his leg below the knee, passing completely through the fleshy part of the member. He was given the necessary medical attention and was removed to his home.

J. P. Ladd, of this city, has commenced suit against the C. L. & W. Railway Company. Ladd was until recently a brakeman on the C. L. & W. and was discharged together with two engineers, two conductors and several others for not reporting a head end collision which took place down the road but which caused no damage. The suit has been brought for $15,000 damages. Ladd was injured at Chamberlain on February 9th, 1900. He coupled two cars together and the conductor signaled the train before he could get out. He was caught between the drawbars. He was also injured at Lester March 14 this year. A brake wheel broke and he fell to the track below. These injuries he says caused him much mental and bodily pain for which he thinks he ought to have about $15,000.—Lorain Herald.

A NEED OF GUIDE-BOARDS

Some Townships Said to be Destitute of Conveniences.

Travelers who know the value of guide-boards rail against conditions existing in Tuscarawas and Bethlehem townships. They say that it is impossible for a man unfamiliar with the vicinity to keep the right road without making inquiries at all forks and intersections. Neither township has guide-boards. In Perry township guide-boards stand at all forks, cross-roads and termini, and in large, plain letters tells whither the roads lead and distances to various towns. These boards, which are sixty-five in number, cost the township $50.47 as they stand, and there are many taxpayers who say they are the best investment the township has made in years.

It was decided that the polls of the primary election Saturday, May 4, should be located in the city prison, and be open from 1 to 7 o'clock.

Notes of Various Electric Railways.

A $10,000 DAMAGE SUIT.

Proposed Improvement at Meyer's Lake—Assignment of Cases for Next Week's Sessions of Common Pleas Court—Probate Court Matters.

CANTON, May 1.—The Louisville village council has granted a franchise to the Canton-Alliance Electric Railway Company. The only conditions exacted are that work on the line shall be commenced by July 1, and that the line be completed within a year from that date.

The Canton Light, Heat and Power Company wants the ordinance granting it a franchise so amended that it gives the company privilege to furnish hot water to patrons for heating purposes.

Contractor Stanton, who began work on the Canton-Akron electric road Tuesday, at a point near New Berlin, is advertising for two hundred and fifty teams.

A party of surveyors in the employ of the Canton-Akron Electric Railway Company commenced surveying a route from this city to New Philadelphia on Tuesday. The proposed electric railway will pass through Richville, Navarre, Justus, Beach City, Strasburg and Canal Dover.

The Canton-Massillon Street Railway Company has filed an answer in the damage case brought against it by John Adam Uffring, administrator of the estate of Albert Uffring. This is a case brought against the street railway company for $10,000 for the death of Albert Uffring, who was caught in a truck trailer in West Tuscarawas street some months ago. He received injuries that resulted in lock-jaw. The railroad company in its answer denies that the boy came to his death through any lack of care or the negligence of the employees of the company, but sets up a claim that he by his carelessness contributed to his own death.

The Canton Land and Improvement Company has all plans completed for extensive improvements at Meyer's lake, which will be completed not later than June 15. The plans contemplate the erection of a theatre with a seating capacity of 1200, to be built over the water, about one hundred feet from shore, boat and bathing houses, dancing pavilion, etc.

The county commissioners today granted an extension of time to the Canton Alliance Electric Railway Company, and also gave permission for changes in the route as originally laid out.

The opera house was well filled last night, the attraction being the James-Kidder combination in "A Midsummer's Night's Dream." The house had been donated to the Aultman hospital for the occasion and the proceeds were for the benefit of that institution.

The windows in the court house are being changed so that they will swing. It will no longer be necessary to get on the outside to clean them.

In the case of Simon Mandru against J. B. Sumner and others, the plaintiff has filed an amended answer. He denies that the Jacob Klingman road was laid out as a county road or that it was sixty feet in width. He asks for strict proof thereof. This case was one which grew out of the granting of a franchise to the Stark Electric Railway Company for the construction of a line from Maximo to Mount Union. This necessitated the widening of the road and the consequent moving of a hedge fence which was valued highly by the plaintiff in this case.

A full assignment has been made for both court rooms for the first week of the May term of court, which will begin on next Monday. The following is a list of the assignments:

MODERN HOUSECLEANING.

Some Innovations That Turn Old Time Drudgery Into a New Art.

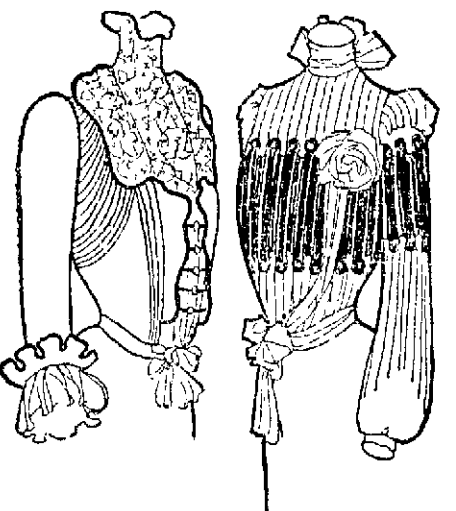

Perhaps one of the greatest differences between the old time housecleaning and modern housecleaning lies in the treatment of floors. The woman who has her house carpeted with rugs blesses the fashion when it comes to cleaning. Of course the floors must be polished. If the floor is not of hard wood, a coat of paint is the first application. After that there should be two or three coats of varnish, then a rubbing with sandpaper and after that a good oiling and polishing. The floor is then in good condition for several months to come. Many housekeepers make a practice of having floors rubbed weekly with kerosene, but this is not clean, and the fact that it proves ruinous to any light gown that trails over it is argument sufficient against the practice.

There are professional cleaners who may be secured to come in and thoroughly clean the most delicate carpet. They use nothing more or less than gasoline. It will clean your carpet so that it will look as good as new as far as removing spots and restoring color are concerned. Of course, there are all sorts of precautions to be taken in this work. The day should be a cloudy one, and then only a small portion of the fluid should be exposed at one time. There should be no heat in the room, and then also the windows should be left wide open. If these precautions are taken to the letter, there can be absolutely no danger for the home woman of judgment cleaning her own carpet.

It is often an extremely difficult piece of work to take up a heavy moquette or velvet carpet. As they do not sift dirt through them, the cleaning with gasoline is a great saving of labor. A small portion of the carpet may be cleaned at one time. In cleaning the carpet in this manner pour a very little of the fluid upon one small space and then rub with clean cloths until perfectly dry and fresh. The work requires plenty of clean cloths and plenty of fluid. The windows of the room should be left open until all the smell of the fluid has evaporated, says The New Idea Woman's Magazine in presenting the foregoing bits of modern household practice.

New Effects in Waists.

Blouses not only remain in favor, but present some very chic new effects, as witness the two here sketched. One is a lemon colored glaze silk veiled with

VERY CHIC BLOUSES.

White chiffon and trimmed with sets of vertical and curved plaits, simulating a bolero. It has a chemise with high collar, waistcoat front and battlemented cuffs, accented with black velvet ribbon.

The other is a wedgewood blue foulard, finely plaited in the front of the corsage, striped with black velvet, huckle fashion, and studded with gold at the points. A huge chon on the left side is connected by a careless torsade to a smaller one with hanging end at right side of waist.

Loops For Dresses and Waists.

Waists may have the loops at back of neck, on the waist line or on each arm near the back. Wherever placed they should not be loops, strictly speaking, but a three or four inch piece laid flat and sewed to the garment at each end. Applied in this manner inside the skirt belt there can be no danger of a wayward loop protruding to view above the belt, advises Good Housekeeping. On each side back of the hips, to take the weight of the back fullness, is the proper place for loops, but a third may be placed in front and the skirt folded in a way to preserve the front crease when hung away.

A Neat Notion For the Bathroom.

For a dressing room or bathroom a very good idea is to have matting put along the wall as a kind of dado. It could be fastened under the wainscot board, but if it is being put up after the room is fitted a small additional piece of molding may be put along the top of the wainscot board to hold the edge of the mat. A similar piece of beading runs about two feet six inches round the wall to hold the upper edge. The advantage of matting is that it does not hurt if it gets splashed and gives a light, clean appearance to the room.

Notes From The Jewelers' Circular.

One of the most chic effects in ear-cases is that of black suede with corner ornaments of tiny brilliants and pearls.

Very high, round topped and cabochon emeralds and rubies represent distinguished form in rings.

A snake bracelet or ring goes without saying with anybody who affects popular style in jewelry.

It is said that silver ferrets and tags are to be the next craze.

PASTRY MAKING.

Puff Paste, Plain Paste and Tempting Confections of These Kind.

Puff paste and plain paste are the two forms of pastry which go to the making of pies, tarts, patties, vol au vents and "sticks" of various kinds. For these two pastes and some of their tempting adaptations Fannie M. Farmer gives the following recipes in The Householder:

Puff Paste.—Wash a half pound of butter and pat and fold until no water flies. Reserve one tablespoonful of the butter and shape the remainder into a piece a half inch thick. Work the reserved butter into half a pound of pastry flour, moisten to a dough with cold water, turn on slightly floured cloth and knead one minute; cover and let stand five minutes. Pat and roll into a rectangular piece, having the paste quarter of an inch thick. Place the butter on the paste at the right of the center. Cover the butter by folding the paste lengthwise, pressing the edges to inclose as much air as possible. Fold the paste above and below the inclosed butter. Turn the paste half way round, pat and roll quarter of an inch thick. Fold from the ends toward the center, making three layers, and pat and roll quarter of an inch thick. Repeat this process four times. Pat and roll out once more, then fold from ends to center and double, making four layers. Chill thoroughly before using.

Plain Paste.—To one and a half cups of flour add a half teaspoonful of salt and quarter of a cupful of lard. Work with the tips of the fingers until well mixed. Moisten to a dough with cold water and proceed the same as in puff paste, folding in quarter of a cupful of washed butter. Three rollings are generally sufficient for plain paste, and it may be used as soon as made.

Lemon Pie Filling.—Beat three eggs slightly, add two-thirds of a cupful of sugar, quarter of a cupful of lemon juice, the grated rind of half a lemon and two tablespoonfuls of water.

Meringue For Pie.—Beat the whites of three eggs until stiff, add gradually four tablespoonfuls of powdered sugar, beating vigorously; fold in lightly three and a half tablespoonfuls of powdered sugar and a half teaspoonful of lemon extract. Cover the pie with meringue and mark with the handle of a case-knife, sprinkle with powdered sugar and bake in a moderate oven eight minutes.

Orange Sticks.—Cut plain paste rolled one-eighth inch thick in strips five inches long by one inch wide and bake in a hot oven. Put together in pairs, with orange filling between.

Orange Filling.—Mix one-half cupful of sugar, two and a half tablespoonfuls of flour, the grated rind of one-half orange, one-fourth cupful of orange juice, one-half tablespoonful of lemon juice, one egg slightly beaten and one teaspoonful of butter. Cook ten minutes in a double boiler, stirring constantly. Cool before spreading.

Paper Napery and Knickknacks.

Beautiful "lunch sets" are now procurable in pure white or decorated crepe paper, consisting of 5 tablecloths and 100 napkins. Dainty in appearance, they are economical as well in saving the washing and wear of handsome damask. For afternoon teas, card and children's parties and other informal functions paper napery is now regarded as correct form.

The paper ice cups for serving sherbets, ices and frozen fruits, the salad cases, receptacles for "sweets," candied violets, mint leaves and crystallized ginger to be placed at each cover, are a few of the many dainty paper novelties of modern service.—Table Talk.

A Variation In Griddlecakes.

A rather unusual cake is made by combining oatmeal and bread crumbs. Put one-half cupful of bread crumbs and one-half cupful of rolled oats into a bowl with two cupfuls of sour milk. Let the mixture stand overnight. In the morning add a little salt, a little sugar and one-half teaspoonful of soda dissolved in one teaspoonful of hot water. Whisk in one beaten egg and add flour to make a good batter, then bake on a griddle.

THE NEW WEDDING GOWNS.

Silver Garniture the Leading Feature of This Season's Styles.

Wedding gowns are modeled after that of the queen of Holland, which brought silver so prominently to the front. Vogue illustrates some of the season's new bridal attire, as here shown, and tells that the skirt of the royal gown, with its long train, is a thing of great beauty, open in front, showing a plisse tablier of maline crossed 18 inches from the bottom, with a narrow garland of orange blossoms, while below it are fringe trails of the same a few inches apart. The skirt is again opened for about 20 inches only at the sides, turning the front sides at the foot into a rounding panel, and in this opening is seen a fan of plaited maline.

The queen's gown was made of silver cloth of the finest weaving imaginable, and the border edge of the skirt openings and the bottom were embroidered in silver, the design orange blossom vines. But in white satin the effect would be equally charming, with only a slight silver embroidery.

The queen's bodice was covered with silver embroidery, and a long spray of orange flowers crept up on the left side to the shoulder, where the décolletage was a filmy drape of tulle drawn down into a point in front.

The wedding gown sketched is of white satin over white taffeta. The taffeta foundation is circular, en traine, and finished with a lace edged accordion plating. The circular satin drop skirt has a narrow panel of tucked white mousseline de soie down the center of front, edged on either side with a tiny mousseline ruche. Many rows of the mousseline ruches trim the skirt above the hem.

The waist fastens at the back. It is close fitting, with a little fullness in the front, which blouses over the soft satin girdle. Yoke, stock and sleeves are of the tucked mousseline. A graduated ruffle of accordion plaited chiffon, edged with a ruche and headed with a point lace garland design, out lines the yoke. A design on the sleeves continues the line. An empire drape of brussels point lace falls from under the accordion plaited ruffle to the hem of the train. Orange blossoms hold the little veil.

The bridesmaid's dress is of daffodil yellow panne satin over white taffeta. The circular taffeta foundation is en traine and finished with plaiting of white chiffon edged with lace.

The circular drop skirt of panne satin has a curved banding of finely tucked white mousseline de soie inserted at the heading of the graduated circular flounce. The flounce is bordered with four narrow chiffon ruffles, and a row of steel and silver spangled lace is placed above. Fullness at the back is in an inverted plait.

The bodice fastens at the back, is close fitting, with slightly bloused front and pointed front and back. The yoke and sleeves are of brussels point, the bertha of yellow chiffon with frill on the edge and draped with a chon at the left side. The spangled lace belt has yellow chiffon sash ends at the front trimmed across with two narrow ruffles. The picture hat is of black tulle, velvet and black ostrich plumes. A bouquet of daffodils completes the costume.

A Popular Color, but Capricious.

Gray is in a way a capricious color. It is devoted to its friends and cruel to its enemies. Its enemies are the women who wear grays that they should not, grays which stand out aggressively to the woman while the woman is aggressively ugly or sinks into insignificance in the gown. The woman with youth and a fine skin can wear any gray. It is exquisite on a blonde, bringing out all her delicate tints, and equally effective with the brilliant hues of the brunette. The woman with Titian hair and red brown eyes is glorious in the right shade of gray. For the 99 out of 100 women who are neither beautiful blondes, brunettes nor Titian maidens gray must be chosen with tender consideration.

Hominy Puffs.

One cupful of cold boiled hominy, one cupful of milk, half a cupful of white cornmeal, two eggs well beaten and a half teaspoonful of salt are needed in making hominy puffs. Beat the hominy into fine flakes with a fork, add the milk, salt and eggs, stir in the cornmeal, then bake in a very hot oven for 20 minutes.

Turkish Rooms.

The cozy corner that became so horrible a certainty in the average home when oriental art gained its firm place in the hearts of cosmopolitan flatters has been displaced by the Turkish room, a possession more pretensions and more difficult to attain.

For this purpose an entire room must be set aside, a parlor alcove being usually chosen for the purpose. The entire ceiling and walls are draped in tuted style, and the appointments and furnishings are all in keeping with eastern customs.

Chandeliers and gas jets are replaced by hanging lamps of jeweled brass or Italian iron, and effects are produced far more pleasing to the eye of the artist than to the careful housewife who knows what dust catches these oriental hangings are.

While these draped rooms are usually designated and are sometimes used as smoking rooms, they are not adapted for the purpose, the draperies retaining the odors of smoke in a manner most unpleasant to fastidious nostrils.—New York Sun.

Use For Flour Sacks.

The strong sacks in which flour comes can be utilized in a number of ways for household purposes. It is first necessary to clean them and remove the lettering on them. The printed letters can be taken out by soaking in buttermilk for several hours before washing. The sacks make excellent towels, dishrags, mops and coverings for ironing boards. Those buying their flour in bags will find it of value to save the cloth and put each one away until a pile is collected. Then some day when it is convenient wash them out and cut them up into useful articles, hemming the edges for towels or dishrags the same as if the material had been purchased at the stores. The flour sacking is superior to much of the toweling material, for it is made very strong and durable in the beginning.—New Voice.

Take Care of Floors.

Bare floors should be wiped daily, but they should be well swept with a hair brush before wiping. Mappings should be swept twice or three times a week. Sweep with a brush and then go over them with a cloth on the broom. Salt and water is very good for the mopping, but the mopping should be rubbed dry after the salt has been used.

The far famed cleanliness of a Dutch kitchen cannot compare with the American kitchen cleaned with

If you want to raise a nice lot of celery for your own use, buy a paper of celery seed now and sow it in a box of earth. We will tell you later on what to do next.

If you are sure of a heavy, soaking rain just as the corn is earing in August, it may do to plant four kernels in each hill, but if such rain is wanting you will be better off with two.

Some men are so fortunately situated in North Dakota that they can go down cellar on a cold day and dig all the coal they need to keep them nice and warm up stairs. Every country has its compensations.

An eastern man owning a rather wet quarter section in a western country received recently the sum of $650 as the proceeds of his share of the crop. As the owner had but $3,200 invested in the land he received a dividend of over 20 per cent on his investment.

The Poland-China hard hog is just as much a logical product of the great corn belt as the bacon hog is of Canadian foods and conditions. Any type of bacon hog would become under corn belt conditions in course of time a hard hog, and the Poland-China, fed only nitrogenous foods, would in time be converted into a bacon hog.

The only consolation connected with the failure of the Great bill to become a law is the fact that the river and harbor bill failed also. If an existing fraud could not be stopped, it is some satisfaction to know that at least another was not perpetrated. The dairy men must wait. Old Bossey will be heard from at the next session.

Modern progress and invention have made of copper one of the most valuable minerals. Not less than 250 distinct appliances associated largely with electrical development open up new fields of usefulness for this metal, with the result that the owners of copper mines are piling up as large fortunes as the silver barons and the owners of gold mines.

One feature of legislation which would aid in the cause of better roads would be to authorize the proper officials to condemn land needed as gravel pits. This power is lacking in most of the states now, and where such deposits of gravel are found and needed the public now has to pay three or four prices for them or do without them.

Three hundred farmers, some young men and some of them gray headed, took advantage of a special three weeks' course at the Iowa Agricultural college this winter, the special work of this course being instruction in stock judging. Several who attended tell us that it was the most instructive and profitable three weeks they ever put in on farm work.

The strippings of a cow's milk product are said to be a valuable tonic for weakly persons who cannot assimilate other food. If the use of strippings should become general by people in need of a tonic, a marked lowering of the test at the creameries may be looked for. We have known a good many degenerate needing a moral tonic who hankered after strippings.

The best remedy we know of for hog cholera may be summed up thus: Breed only from well matured parents and keep corn away from the pigs until they are a year old, then finish them for market. There may be no money in raising hogs after this rule; still we believe it would pay better than maintaining a hog cemetery on nearly every farm in the country.

The legislature of the state of Minnesota is discussing the matter of restrictive measures to prevent the spread of the oxeye daisy in that state. The west is greatly indebted to the east for many good things, but the Canada thistle and the daisy are not among them.

The first work on agriculture ever written admonishes the farmer thus: "In the morning sow thy seed and at evening withhold not thy hand." Which, being given a twentieth century application, refers to the sowing of clover with all small grain wherever clover will grow.

A flat brown bean is used extensively in England as food for horses. It is ground into meal and fed with oat chaff and makes a very nourishing ration. This bean is an upright growing variety and is easily cared for as a field crop. We have never seen it tried in this country.

An acre of Jack oak can be cut over about once every 25 years and 40 cords of four foot wood obtained therefrom. As this wood would be worth not to exceed $100 in the tree it is easy to see that it does not pay to grow this sort of timber as an investment on any good arable land.

Times are no better for the poor man than they used to be. The Romans used to lease land on a share rent, the landlord being satisfied with one-tenth of the crop of all cereals and one-fifth of the product of the orchards and vineyards. Now he demands and gets from two-fifths to one-half.

Frosts, especially early spring frosts, are great pulverizers of refractory soils, beating any tool yet invented for this purpose. Soil thus comminuted and pulverized liberates plant food, and this explains why fall plowing of the land will in most cases produce better crops than land plowed in the spring.

The right time to buy is when everybody wants to sell, but few do so. Once in a while some wise man will act upon this theory and always makes money. A safe rule to be governed by is this: Whenever any commodity is selling below the cost of production it is a safe proposition to invest in it. This motto should be learned by heart.

A very good substitute for a refrigerator in the farm home may be secured by piping the water from the well worked by the windmill into the kitchen into a galvanized iron reservoir holding three or four barrels, this reservoir to be made square and fitted with a tightly made cupboard placed immediately below it for the storage of perishable foods. The temperature of such a self regulating refrigerator, where the water of the well is 48 degrees, can easily be maintained at 52, which is low enough to answer ordinary demands for cooling purposes. Another good feature associated with this plan is that a supply of pure, cool water is easily available for domestic use.

THICKS AND THRAEDIES.

A two inch fall of snow came one night, without any wind and lay the next day like a pure white blanket over all the woods and fields. Now, here was the opportunity to see something for one who liked to read out of nature's book. Here in the silent woods were tracks of the few forms of animal and bird life which brave our northern winters—here a rabbit track meandering in and out among the newly felled tops of a poplar tree and spots where he had sat on his haunches to get his early breakfast from the juicy bark, a little farther on evidence that he was frightened, as a leap of six feet had been made in the direction of a friendly hollow log; here a squirrel's tracks as he slid down from his nest in the hole of an old oak and dug away at his little store of acorns hidden last fall for just such a winter day's meal; there he sits on a cold bar, with his tail curled over his back, his sharp teeth working like the shuttle of a sewing machine; a little farther on an old log, sheeted like a corpse, with telltale geometric tracks running from end to end, where a ruffed grouse leisurely walked; at the end of the log feathers and a spatter of blood and the crescent shaped pattern of an owl's wing as in the early morning he dropped silently down on the king of game birds and bore him off to his hole in the heart of the big black walnut down by the river; here another track beside the rabbit's, that of the red fox; up and tick it was with them, and then trampled snow and bits of fur and mere blood, showing how R-y-nard got his morning meal; here the track of a house cat prowling along the edge of the timber, then evidence of a crouch and a mighty spring and another tragedy showing where a field mouse fell a victim. As we cross the open field a shrike settles down on the barbed wire fence, and we see him leisurely impale a mouse on one of the barbs, and thus does the snow tell the tale of the never ending tragedies in wild life only thus rarely seen and read.

FOREIGN THIEF.

The economies practiced by very many of our foreign born citizens when they first begin life in this country seem very queer and strange to us. These methods are the inevitable outgrowth of their hard conditions in the mother country, fastened into life habits, with the result that when applied to American conditions a singular degree of financial prosperity is insured to these people. While some of these practices are really "penny wise and pound foolish" when applied here and are in time somewhat modified, still the primary idea of thrift, saving and economy is never entirely obliterated until the third generation, when their progeny lets things go wide open just like a native born American. The women of the first importation never get over the notion of working in the fields, of gathering the brushwood for the kitchen fire and of working the family garden just as they used to in the little plot which served as a garden in the fatherland. The average American farm needs nothing worse than a liberal application of some of these old fashioned and foreign ideas of economy and saving, and this is not implying that American women should do aught on the farm than care for the farm home.

THE ONE YEAR RENTER.

The bane of western agriculture is the one year renter. From the very terms of his lease he becomes a robber of the soil, ever seeking to cover the largest possible number of acres with the least possible labor, a fertility skinner, a cereal nomad, an agricultural tramp. For his existence and almost wholly responsible for his bad and blighting work the owner of the land is alone to blame. Just so long as land lords are willing to consent to the impoverishment of their farms year after year by refusing to grant any save yearly leases just so long will we have the yearly renter with us. When land lords get sense enough to realize that the interests of landlord and tenant are mutual and are best promoted by long term leases and a proper stocking up of a farm to consume the products of the farm, then will a better and more sensible method of agriculture prevail on all rented land.

FARM SEPARATOR CREAMERIES.

We know of two creameries now in successful operation supplied with the cream from farm separators. The cream is gathered twice or three times a week, and the grade of butter made sells fully up to that made by the separator creameries. This system is the acme of successful co-operative dairying, and where once well established gives better satisfaction to every one interested than any method yet introduced. The useless expense incurred in hauling the milk and the villainous quality of the skim milk returned to the dairyman for his calves are two inexcusable adjuncts of the creamery separator system which will have to go—have to go, mind that!

A friend writes that he wishes we would write some long articles once in a while on some interesting topics. Replying, we say that life is short, and the people are very busy and will not listen to any writer or speaker who is long on words and short on ideas. Our friend should go and hear a long winded person or read some of the column editorials in the daily papers, and for that matter many of the articles in the leading agricultural journals—either will make him sleepy enough. We do not write to make men snore, but to keep them wide awake and set them to thinking.

OPEN AIR TELEPHONE.

'Drop a Nickel' in the Slot and Speak to Any One You Wish.

The nearest approach to wireless telegraphy in point of convenience of communication is the open air telephone for use in the public streets described by the New York Sun.

This telephone is of the height and shape of a police or fire alarm box. The door can be unlocked by dropping a cent in the slot, and the coin can be recovered upon the opening of the door. Inside the box is the mechanical pay station telephone with the slots for dimes, nickels, etc., and on the inside of the door hangs a telephone directory.

The receiver is attached to the back by a short arm, and beside it hangs the transmitter. Connection with the central office is made in the usual way, and when central gets the person wanted and the money is deposited conversation may proceed.

The door of the box is on beveled hinges and shuts itself so easy that there will be a general demand for their introduction. Of course they cannot be put in without the consent of the local authorities, and they may be regarded as an obstruction in the street, although they will take up no more room than fire alarm or police telegraph boxes. It is suggested that the telephone call box may supplant both of these and make them no longer necessary.

OUR GREATEST METAL.

We Shall Produce More Than Half a Billion Pounds of Copper This Year.

According to the New York News, copper is the American metal par excellence. We shall mine 600,000,000 pounds of it in 1901 and will sell to foreign consumers over 1,000,000 pounds per day. In fact, we produce considerably more than one-half the world's total supply of copper.

Though we are by far the largest users of the metal, we are able, while supplying our own wants, to export immense quantities. In fact, we sell to foreign purchasers as much as we utilize ourselves. Great Britain, France and Germany taking pretty nearly all of the copper ingots and plates that we send abroad. Those countries, excepting Germany, which has only a small output, are not producers of copper.

During the year 1900 we sold to foreign consumers about 381,000,000 pounds of copper. Full statistics of production for that twelvemonth have not yet been gathered by the United States geological survey, but the output of this country in 1899 was 567,500,000 pounds. In the same year the rest of North America contributed 95,594,000 pounds, South America yielded 73,315,000 pounds, Europe sent to market 204,075,000 pounds, Asia furnished 61,724,000 pounds, Australia supplied 40,096,000 pounds and Africa added for her share 14,537,000 pounds, somewhat over 1,000,000,000 pounds of the metal.

The copper producing companies of this country are understood to have cleared $40,000,000 over and above all expenses in 1900. Considering the vastness of the profits, it is not surprising that the metal should be eagerly sought in all parts of the world. The yield of Canada and Mexico is rapidly growing, and in South America there has been a revival of copper mining in Chile and Bolivia, while the Cerro de Pasco district in Peru is looming up as an important contributor to the market. Tasmania is coming forward as a large producer, its ores containing incidentally some silver and gold.

Apoplexy From Tight Lacing.

At a recent inquest at Sutton Coal field, in England, on the body of a woman who had suddenly "dropped dead" in her own house the body was found to be very much deformed from tight lacing. The physician called at the time of the accident testified that he found the woman so tightly compressed by her corset and bodice as to seriously interfere with the circulation of the blood. The coroner found that death was due to cerebral apoplexy brought on by tight lacing.—New York Commercial Advertiser.

Automatic Wolf Scarer.

A Kansas man has got up a clockwork device to attach to an ordinary magazine gun to fire off a blank cartridge at fixed intervals. It is used by ranchmen, who set it by night to scare away the coyotes.

CATARRH

Catarrh has become such a common disease that a person entirely free from this disgusting complaint is seldom met with. It is customary to speak of Catarrh as nothing more serious than a bad cold, a simple inflammation of the nose and throat. It is, in fact, a complicated and very dangerous disease; if not at first, it very soon becomes so.

The blood is quickly contaminated by the foul secretions, and the poison through the general circulation is carried to all parts of the system.

Salves, washes and sprays are unsatisfactory and disappointing, because they do not reach the seat of the trouble. S. S. S. does. It cleanses the blood of the poison and eliminates from the system all catarrhal secretions, and thus cures thoroughly and permanently the worst cases.

Mr. P. H. McAllister, of Harrodsburg, Ky., writes: "Having been a terrible sufferer from Catarrh, and being now sound and well, the question often put to me is, 'What cured you?' In answer I feel it my duty to state that Swift's Specific is the medicine. I am such a true believer in the efficacy of Swift's Specific that I can honestly and conscientiously recommend it to any one suffering from Catarrh. Have recommended it to many, and am happy to say that those whom I have induced to use it can bear me out in the statement that it will cure any case of Catarrh if taken according to directions."

GUMPTION.

NE does not have gumption till one has been properly cheated." Persons of gumption are using Ivory Soap, women who have trusted themselves too near the precipice of false economy and who can now appreciate the true economy in a soap made of pure vegetable oils and other high-class ingredients, but made in such quantity as to bring the price within the reach of the very poorest family. Indeed it is the very poor who most need it, for they can least afford the extravagance of common soap.

Letters of regret were read from quite a number who had fully intended to be present, among them being Mr. and Mrs. Geo. F. Pollock, of Washington, and Charles H. Clark, of Cleveland, one of the oldest and best coal operators we ever had in the Massillon district. Mr. Findley was one of the first miners employed to work in the Massillon mines. Mr. and Mrs. Findley have lived in this place for the past forty-five years and have a large circle of friends who earnestly hope that the aged couple may be spared many years of comfort and pleasure to each other and those around them.

HEAD HUNTER CAILLES.

Only Chief Americans Want Badly at Large in the Philippines.

More Surrenders.

Washington, May 1.—Two important cablegrams were received Tuesday at the war department from General MacArthur at Manila. In the opinion of the officials the news contained in them marked the almost complete collapse of organized rebellion in the Philippines. The cablegrams were as follows:

"General Tinio surrendered with his command today at Sinait. He will deliver all men and guns in his command as soon as they can be gathered together. This completely pacifies the first department, Northern Luzon, for many months the worst in Luzon.

"Colonels Ciprano Callao and Gregorio Katibac, Malvar's best officers, surrendered to Colonel Jacob Kline at Lipa on April 28, with 23 officers, 108 men and 86 rifles."

It was stated at the war department by officials recently back from the Philippines that there remained in the field in Luzon only one chief whom they were particularly desirous of catching, namely, Cailles, the head hunter.

Later the following cable message, dated Tuesday, at Manila, was received from General MacArthur, announcing several other important surrenders in the Philippines:

"Juan and Blas Villamor, leaders Abra, surrendered Bangued April 27; now engaged assembling scattered commands, delivered arms. Aglipay, ex-priest, leader Hocos, Norte province, Luzon, surrendered at Laoag, April 28."

Harry Odenwalt, aged 16, was crushed to death by an elevator at Lancaster, Pa.

ROOMS CROWDED EVERY VISIT.

Dr. Schram, Canton's Eminent Specialist.

Will be at the Hotel Conrad, Massillon, Tuesday, May 7. From 10 a. m. to 4 p. m.

SPECIALTIES—Diseases of the EYE, Ear, Nose, Throat and Stomach. Chronic Diseases require a searching diagnosis, and Dr. Schram's examinations are similar to those given in the eastern and foreign hospitals where thousands of patients are seen every month, and where the doctor studied and learned his profession.

No matter what the cause may be his long, varied and eminently successful career as a specialist in this field equates him to more thoroughly trained at these diseases than those whose knowledge is not the result of actual experience and scientific study.

The doctor has cured hundreds of cases of CATARRH, DEAFNESS and STOMACH DISEASES, and has by the expert fitting of glasses, restored perfect vision to patients suffering with weak eyes.
